MAD LIB #1 — THE PROPOSAL

Story 1: The Proposal

Before reading, ask for: Adjective · Verb · Place in NOLA · Food · Adjective · Emotion · Body part · Verb · Adjective · Number · Animal · Famous person · Exclamation

It was a adjective evening in New Orleans when [groom] decided to verb the love of his life. He took her to place in NOLA, where he had hidden a ring inside a food. The moment was so adjective that [bride] felt completely emotion. Her body part started to verb as he got down on one adjective knee. After number seconds of silence — which felt like a animal just walked in — she screamed "exclamation!" just like famous person would have. The whole crowd at place in NOLA erupted into applause, and somewhere a jazz band played, because this is New Orleans and that's just what happens.

MAD LIB #2 — THE BACHELORETTE NIGHT

Story 2: The Bachelorette Night

Before reading, ask for: Adjective · Number · Verb (past) · Color · Noun · Verb · Adjective · Animal · Famous person · Exclamation · Verb · Food · Adjective

The squad arrived in New Orleans looking absolutely adjective. There were number of them, and they had all verb (past) just to be there. [Bride] wore a color sash and carried a noun that everyone kept trying to verb. By the third bar, things got adjective. Someone thought they saw a animal, but it was just famous person in disguise. The bride yelled "exclamation!" when a stranger tried to verb her food. By midnight, everyone agreed this was the most adjective night in the history of bachelorette parties. Somewhere in the French Quarter, a brass band played them home.
